tion extravaganza was had at the Theater RECORD OF A MAN OF PLUCK [CONTINUED FROM SECOND PAGE]

The war was fought while the Republican party was in power. Anxious to retain their grip on purse and power, the right of suffrage was given to the enfranchised slaves and at first withheld from those who had taken an active part in the rebellion. In reconstructing the Union the line of State rights was wiped out; and party action was bent toward the centralization of power in the hands of the Federal government. The Republicans held a two thirds majority in both branches of the legislature. Personal and State rights were trampled under foot in an effort to maintain party supremacy. The supreme court presented the only barrier to unconstitutional legislation. Justice Field remained true to his convictions. Nothing swerved him from his principles. His decisions and opinions locensed the dominant party, and they feared and hated him. He concurred in Justice David David's opinion in the Mulligan case, which decided that the laws and usages of war could never be applied to citizens in States which have upheld the authority of government, and where the courts are open and their Methodist church, Chelsea, continues with unabated interest, and will be protracted ounter to precedent. Frog legs, Chinese birds' nests, shark's fins, shall sahads, white bait, buffa'o humps, antelope steaks, turbot, and other delicacies were placed on the table. A bottle of Johannisberg was served to each guest. Justice Field was flanked by Sam Ward and Hon. James F. Wilson. The colored gentleman watched his optorunity, and extracted the card from near that ex governor's plate. It bore the name of Stephen J. Field.

On the next morning the Washington Express published Ex-Governor Price's remarks as the remarks of Justice Field. The Associated Press spread the news throughout the country. It created intense excitement. Horace Greeley and William Collen Bryant, mortal chemies in everything ease, howled for the impeachment of the justice, and scores of rural Republican newspapers took up the cay. Scon afferward Hon, Glenni W. Scolleid introduced a resolution in the House sequating toward impeachment. It was the Hawk Ex he had insisted on seeing & Governor Price home after Sam Ward's clinner, and like a true Jerseyman the ex-governor had insisted or returning the compliment. These courtesies were exchanged until broad daylight. Mr. Wilson never saw Mr. Scolled's resolution until it was laid before him in committee.
